

Compositions for carillon - Jef Rottiers (1905-1985)

The "Compositions for carillon" by Jef Rottiers are undoubtedly of great importance within the contemporary carillon repertoire. However, with the exception of the "Fantasy op ADG", his works exist only in manuscript form. This is strange because his compositions have always been very popular. Consequently, it became clear that it was time to publish his original compositions. The thirtieth anniversary of his death in 2015 was the perfect occasion to fill this gap in the carillon repertoire.

The publication "Compositions for carillon" by Jef Rottiers (1904-1985) is presented as a bundle of 61 loose sheets of thick paper, which are ready to use at the carillon console. Next to such well known pieces as "Ballade" and "Sprookje", this volume also contains compositions that have not yet been made public, such as his "Fantasia III".
